

The quantitative and statistical skills

I applied statistical and quantitative analysis concepts to financial data with the use of Microsoft Excel. I prepared and organized datasets, analyzed relationships between assets through correlation analysis. The regression analysis was carried out to determine the effect of market returns on the performance of individual stocks such as Apple and Nike stocks. This dataset analysis allowed me to demonstrate skills in data interpretation, portfolio analysis, and risk assessment to support investment decision-making.